But what if a sports car also has speed? Then you may have just the sort of car that one of the most desirable men in the world is looking for: a supercar. Alfa Romeo 4C. AP Photo / Tommaso Boddi The Alfa Romeo 4C is the newest member of the two-door supercar series, the 4C. It is a limited-edition vehicle that features a slick design reminiscent of the early 60s, and it is destined to become an instant classic. Rocco Mancini, son of Ferrari owner Luca Mancini and nephew to Enzo Ferrari, has been hired by Alfa Romeo to design the 4C. This makes sense because he is a renowned automotive stylist who has designed many notable sports cars from the 60s to the present. It also means that we should be able to expect a high-quality product. The 4C comes with an 0-60 mph time of less than 4 seconds, so it is packed with power. Alfa Romeo says that the 4C is capable of hitting a top speed of 220 mph. The Alfa Romeo 4C is equipped with a twin-turbocharged engine with a V12. It is called the V12 because that is the basic configuration for most of the major sports cars. It is a 6.3-liter engine that churns out 500 horsepower and 595 lb-ft of torque. It is also very powerful. Thanks to these impressive specs, the Alfa Romeo 4C can hit a top speed of 224 mph. The 4C sports the classic Alfa Romeo red, white, and black color scheme, plus it is built with lightweight carbon fiber
